Testimonial Summer 2018

We first contacted Jack Wright about the possibility of having a Cookery Course at Bourne Salvation Army in May 2018. Jack responded promptly by arranging a visit to the Corps, to have a look at the facilities and discuss our requirements. Once funding was in place, Jack was able to fit in with dates we had in mind and sent through some resources to help us advertise the course.

We were running the course in partnership with Bourne Food Bank and Jack was very good at tailoring the sessions, as recipes needed to include ingredients that they would usually have. Jack also supplied us with all the recipe cards; both on paper and electronically, so that these can be given out and put up on our websites.

The sessions were run very professionally, with Jack bringing all his own equipment; including aprons, scales, chopping boards, utensils and even portable stoves. He also had a second chef to support in the demonstrations, who was very approachable and professional as well. Jack has a lovely manner and is very friendly to everyone he works alongside. He is very knowledgeable and willing to share his experience and expertise - even after the session, he invited the people to contact him, should they need any further help. The sessions were light-hearted and everyone that came along learnt a lot, as well as having fun along the way! At the end of each session, everyone had the meal they had made to take away with them (and the recipe card), so that they could have a go at home.
